

ESCA Electronics Supply Chain Association

Contributed by Paul Rupnow
Monday, 01 October 2007

The Electronics Supply Chain Association, ESCA has very little mention of Reverse Logistics on their website or at their conference agenda for October 2007, but you can bet that most of these electronics industry Supply Chain Professionals are spending more time than they would like dealing with issues related to their Product Returns and Reverse Logistics.

clipped from www.electronicssupplychain.org

ESCA membership offers companies the opportunity to obtain leading edge supply chain information and work collaboratively with other innovators to solve the difficult problems of our industry.